Cotton closed in Liverpool at 10id. for Middling Uplands. An Ohio editor has received a cake of sugar made from the sap of the black walnut tree. He pronounces it superior to maple sugar: Fifteen hippopotamus hides were recently sent to I. Bunt's tannery in new Boston to be tanned. They were in halves, and weighed together 3500 pounds. The police force of Paris consists of 5700 men, and the cost of maintaining the department is thirteen millions of francs, or one-twelfth of the revenue of the capital. ASA KEELER, Postmaster in a village of Wyoming

County, Pa., recently deceased, was appointed by President MONROE. He was the oldest acting postmaster in the United States. Nine hundred and seventy persons were committed to the Boston "Tombs" last month, six hundred and twenty-seven of them for drunkenness. Boston has a prohibitory law. An immense stone, supposed to weigh twenty five tons, was removed from the Potomac, near

Washington, a few days ago. Chains were put around it by divers, and it was drawn out by windlass. It had been a serious obstruction to navigation, and is supposed to have destroyed $50,000 worth of fishing nets. The Jesuits who came to Canada soon after the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth, brought with them the educational zeal which gave them a controlling power in Europe. They founded at Quebec, in a Seminary for the Huron Indians, and a college for French boys. A leather dealer of Philadelphia recently sold two sides of leather weighing one hundred and -two pounds at twenty-five cents per pound, amounting to $56.10. The leather is the hide of an extra fatted ox, which was killed at one of the barbacues preceding the election of General Han-RISON to the Presidency, about twenty-five years

It will be seen that Atlanta has proved an exception to other Southern cities, and has a majority of white registered citizens in the five wards. The total summing up of registration was, after a careful overhauling of the books, ascertained to be as follows: Total registration 3386. Of the above, 1765 are whites, and 1621 are colored-making majority in favor of the whites of 144. A farmer named H. METLER, living near Philips burg, N. J., has, it is said, a twin calf, with a head containing four eyes and three jaws. In the centre of its forehead is a large socket with two perfect eyes; also, it has an eye on each side of the head. The three jaws are arranged in a row about the lower end of the head, each one containing a tongue. The calf is growing finely. Its mate is not remarkable in its construction. One of the most striking of the many striking features of these times, is the skill in public speaking that distinguishes many of the colored men. Some of them speak not only with clearness and force, but with strict grammatical correctness. How and where they acquired it, is the mystery. Others exhibit great fluency, much native vigor mind, and considerable adroitness in debate, while they show an entire want of knowledge of the rules of grammar. KUPP's steel works, at Essen, in Germany, which are said to cover 500 acres of ground, and consumes daily 7500 tons of coal. The steam for their use is generated in 120 boilers, and they are lighted by 7900 gaslights, while the 8000 men and boys employed draw an annual pay of over $2,000,-000. Down to the autumn of 1866 these works had produced no less than 2500 cast-steel cannon, chiefly rifled breech-loaders, and 400 of them being 8-inch calibre.

A letter from Mexico says: "Col. MIGUEL LOPEZ the traitor, after selling MAXIMILIAN and his Gen erals, went to Puebla to visit his wife. His reception was decidedly cool. His wife advanced to meet him, leading their little son by the hand, and adhim, leading their field see is your son; we can not cut him in two, take him. You are a base cow before Christmas. This Prince will travel under provided they did not before the war hold any ard and traitor. You have betrayed your country and your benefactor. From this hour we are strangers, for I shall this day retire to my family,

The Norwegian government has just completed a menitor at a cost of £50,000, which carries in a turret two Armstrong guns, which throw 350 pound shot with a charge of 44 pounds of powder. The guns weigh 74,000 pounds. Notwithstanding this, machinery for working them is so excellent that they can be maneuvred by one man alone The sides of the iron turret are eleven inches thick, and are lined inside with horse-hair mattresses. The monitor is worked by engines of 150 horse power, and is manned by eighty men, twenty of whom attend the engines, and twenty man the George Sand (Madame Dunevant) has written the following letter, refusing her sanction to the publication of a caricature of her by one of the little pictorial journals of Paris: ["Paris, July 8. If I were free, sir, I would say yes directly, for I never was vain, and I am not going to be at the age of sixty-three. But all my friends are against it, and my children would be pained by what you propose to do. Everybody about me tells me this so seriously that I must say 'no.' You will excuse me, won't you? Believe that I am very sorry to refuse a request made in such friendly and amia-"GEORGE SAND."

The Lancaster (Pennsylvania) Eagle describes the national bridge, twelve miles south of that place, showing it to be nearly as great a curiosity as the world-famed natural bridge of Virginia. The bridge is of solid sandstone, one hundred and fifty feet in length, and from eight to twenty feet wide, spanning a ravine at an elevation of fortyfive feet from the bottom. It is level on the top, and arched below, with a curvature of about thirty degrees. The Eagle says that persons who have visited both pronounce this bridge equally a wonder, except in size, with its celebrated Virginia

The "Dew Point," as explained by an exchange, is that degree of temperature at which the air deposits its moisture. This point is usually ten degress below the temperature of the air, varying with the quantity of moisture. To discover the dew point at any time, take two thermometers, one for the air, the other for the water. Fill a tumbler with water at about the temperature of the air, drop a bit of ice in the water, and note its temperature as it cools. Some water will condense on the surface of the glass. The dew point is then marked, and the temporature of the water indicates the degree at which the moisture collects. The reception of Madame JUAREZ at Vera Cruz was not quite equal in display or formality to that of the Czar at Paris, though it was probably as that "he is said to have a brother," and, what is hearty. On the arrival of the steamer with Mad. JUABEZ on board a committee of civizens waited upon her. She was at breakfast, and very thoughtfully asked them to sit down with her, which they did, without the nonsense of ceremony. Crowde of small boats surrounded the cutter, and when Mad. Juarez and party landed after breakfast they were greeted with loud acclamations. Two of the city horse-care had been provided, and in these. drawn by an enthusiastic multitude, the Presidentess and her suite were brought to the house of Don Fasquena, where they had another break-

· We have been glancing over some of the newspaper statistics, says the Warrenton Indicator, of the census of 1860, and note the following items: "In the State of New York more papers circulate than in Pennsylvania. Massachusetts and Ohio, the three next largest. The whole number annually in that one State is 320,-990,884. Virginia circulates 26,772,568, thus leading all the Southern States. She ranks as seventh among all the States. North Carolina circulates 4,862,572. She is twenty-six in the list. Even Radical little Rhode Island reads more, unless our people "borrow" more. At any rate Rhode Island has a circulation of 5,289,280. Among the Southern States North Carolina ranks ninth, while in white population she was fifth.

THE DISCOVERY of tin ore in large quantities of this continent is of great economic value. The world is chiefly supplied from the mines in Cornthat in Southwest Missouri we have an immense deposit of tin ore, easy of access, in a mountainous, heavily timbered region, with extensive waterpower afforded by the St. Francis River and its tributaries. The veins are found from two feet to three hundred feet in width, and from a few yards to one mile in length, easily traced on the surface, having been laid bare by the unusually heavy floods of the last spring. We may safely assert that in a few years we will control the tin market of the world. We have the ore and the fuel in abundance, and though labor is comparatively high, we have a counter-balance in the fact that we do not have to sink expensive and deep shafts to obtain the mineral, as they do in England. Our ore is bare at the surface on the hillsides, where for ages it can be cheaply thrown out without the use of those cumbrous and very expensive engines and machinery in use in Cornwall and Wales. As yet the ore has been found in quantity only in Madison County, but indications are found of its existence in Washington and Iron Counties: in fact, it was in this latter County-though before its organization-that Dr. FARRELL found the first specimen of the ore, about nine years ago. He has quietly, but as persistently as circumstances would admit, pursued the search until this last spring, aided by the floods, he discovered those immense veins spoken of. He informs us that all Southeast Missouri may be regarded as a vast storchouse of mineral wealth. Iron, lead, zinc, cobalt, black lead, copper, barytes, ravlin and nickle are found in large quantities. Immense beds of fine marble and a very beautiful serpentine are found. There are large tructs of these lands yet Government land, at $1.25 per acre. The climate is mild-the winters very mild. The valleys are a rich soil, the year 1637, a year before the birth of HARWARD, and a pleasant and healthy summer or winter re-

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that at the urgent solicitation of the Mexican Legislation at Washington the body of Maximilian has been delivered on board a man-of-war off Vera Cruz, so that Admiral Tege-THOFF's mission becomes unnecessary. In addition to the documents already published regarding Mexican affairs, concerning Maximilian's capture, the following is interesting: "To the Citizen Secretary of War: When MAXIMILIAN Was made prisoner yesterday he requested me to grant him the requests embraced in the following points: First-I sent in my abdication in themonth of March, during the first hal! of the month. Among the archives captured from me at La Cruz there exists a copy of it certified and countersigned by the proper minister. The original was sent to the President by the Counsel of State, Jose MABIA LACUNZA, with orders that it should be published when I should lawfully be made prisoner. Second-That if a victim be necessary, the evil done be visited on my person. Third-That my suite and attendants be well treated for the loyalty with which they have accompanied them through dangers and vicissitudes. He has also told me Mexico, and that in consequence he hopes that The Act of March 2, 1867. 2. The Act supthat he desires nothing more than to get out of necessary escorts will be given him to the place of grant nothing, and that all I can do is to report this to the supreme government. THE THIRD SON of the Czar of Russia (there are five sons), the Grand Duke ALEXIS, Colonel in the army, and an officer in the navy, is about to visit this country. He is now in the Levant, looking in "Regulations for Registration," embrace the upon the Greek monasteries. The Washington Chronicle says the Grand Duke will soon proceed to Cadiz, where he will embark on board the Alexander Newski frigate, in which he will visit the West Indies, probably first going to Cuba, and thence to the United States, landing at New Orleans, and extending his trip to Mobile. He may be expected in Washington early in October, and will also visit Richmond, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and Boston. It is not yet arranged that the Grand Duke will proceed to the interior, but he will certainly proceed to Niagara, probably in company with Lord Monce, Viceroy of Canada, whose guest he will be during his visit to British North America. He is expected to reach St. the assumed bearing of a Russian nobleman, and be thus under a partial incognito. This will be duly respected, but the American people will not forget that during the rebellion, when others looked upon our struggle either coldly or with the hope that we should fail, the Emperor of Russia remained constant, true in peril, faithful in adversity, and loyal in his friendship from the first shot fired against Sumter to the capture of Richmond and the surrender of LEE.

THE VALUE OF THE GOLD imported into the United Kingdom in the five months ending May 31, this, year was £4,483,897 as compared with £5,-745,456 in the corresponding period of 1866, and £5,127,943 in the corresponding period of 1865. In these totals Australia figured for £1,991,777, £2,-179,925, and £1,152,852, and the United States for £1,228,338, £1,957,822, and £1,374,684 respectively. The total exports of gold from the United Kingdom in the five months ending May 31, amounted to £2,563,924 as compared with £3,625,972 in the corresponding period of 1866, and £2,517,424 in the corresponding period of 1865. In these totals the exports of gold to France figured for £1,621,598, £2,472,935, and £1,257,348 respectively. The total value of gold and silver bullion and specie imported into Great Britain during the month of May last amounted to £2,237,436. Of this sum tive or judicial office in any State, whether he £1.707.427 was in gold and £530,000 in silver, and of the above total sum £1,123,346 was received from the United States, £435,974 from Australia, £392,746 from Mexico, South America (except Brazil) and the West Indies. The value of bullion exported amounted to £448,360 sterling, £174.955 of which was taken by Holland, £113.996 by Russia, £80,656 by Belgium, and £56,114 by the Hanse towns, smaller sums being taken by Egypt (chiefly for China and India), the west coast of Africa, Australia, Brazil, Mexico, South America and the West Indies.

THE NEW YORK Times makes merry over the telegraph and the rural districts, after the following fashion: Buffalo furnishes us with one of those mysterious and momentous telegrams which give us occasional insight into what mainly interests the minor cities. 'A man named HIRAM VENNEPES. peddler, aged fifty years, dropped dead in the street to-night. He is said to have a brother residing in Lincoln, Ill., who is Vice-President of an agricultural society there.' The public interest in peddlars, and especially in this particular Buffalo peddlar, together with the curious coincidence that he was just 50 years old (not 49 or 51, but round 50), explains at once why this news is instantly flashed to New York. Of the ex-peddlar it cannot be averred, in the words of the immortal Toodles, that "he had a brother," but we are told at least still more momentous for New York and the country to know, the fraternal Vennepes lives in Lincoln, Ill. Far be it for us to deny that upon this suppositious brother have fallen the pastoral honors of which the telegram speaks. Our only difficulty is to find out the connection between the peddler's falling down dead, and his rumored brother's being the 'Vice-President of an agricultural society,' especially in Lincoln, Ill."

THE TIME REQUIRED to see the Paris Exposition is the subject of calculation by an English writer. He says it is necessary to devote on an average five minutes to the glass-case of each exhibitor. These number 45,000; it would, therefore, take 225,000 minutes, making 3750 hours, or 156 days 6 ex-postmasters who have registered. hours; that is, 5 months, 6 days and 6 hours, reckoning 24 hours for each day. But as the interior of the place can only be visited from ten o'clock in the morning till six in the evening, there are only s hours at the visitor's disposal, instead of 24. One would, therefore, be occupied in the inspection 15 months, 20 days, 2 hours, supposing that he entered the building every day at 10 o'clock and did not leave it until 6. It is obvious from this calculation that it is impossible to examine the whole of the exhibition during the time allotted for its du-

WHO CAN REGISTER !

From the passage of the first Reconstruction Act in March last, down to the present time we have again and again endeavored to familiarize our readers with the nature and provisions of the several Acts of Congress bearing on Reconstruction. But it would appear we have failed in our endeavor; for we hear almost daily of persons whose ideas on the subject are hopelessly and most uncomfortably confused. Some there are who believe that no one can register who has "aided and abetted the rebellion;" others are of the opinion that the "iron-clad" oath must be taken by every one who proposes to register. These and other misconceptions appear to prevail much more widely than we could have thought after the repeated publication of the laws on the subject, with the exposition that has been repeatedly given in all the public prints. It is to be accounted for in the fact that, when this information was published, many felt no immediate interest in the matter, registration being then far off; and now, when the time for the application of these laws has come, many are ignorant of their nature.

We republish, therefore, on our 4th page this morning, the several Acts passed by Congress, having in view the restoration of the ten Southern States to the Union. They are: 1 plementary thereto, passed March 23, 1867. embarkation. I have replied to him that I can | 3. The Second Supplemental Act, passed July 19, 1867; and 4th, the (Howard) Amendment proposed to be added to the Constitution of the United States.

These documents, together with General Orders No. 65, from the headquarters of the Second Military District, containing the entire body of legislation on the subject; and we would advise our readers to lay by this copy of the NEWS for reference.

And now we will briefly consider who according to these Acts, is entitled to the privilege of registration:

1. All colored men twenty-one years old who have resided in the State one year next preceding the date of registration.

2. All white men, native and resident here who have attained the age of twenty-one years since the close of the war.

3. All men, whether they were engaged in office under the United States Government, or held any "civil office created by law for the administration of any general law of a State, or for the administration of justice."

WHO ARE DISFRANCHISED? All man who have either horne arms agains

the United States, or "aided and abetted in the rebellion, after having (at any previous period of their lives) taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States," are disfranchised. This is according to the first Reconstruction Act, and this clause is based upon section 3d of the proposed Constitutional Amendment. The second Act contains nothing on this head. The 3d, however, passed at the July session, in section 6th, enacts "that the true intent and meaning of the oath prescribed in said Supplementary Act is (among other things) that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State, or who has held any execuhas taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States or not, and whether he was holding office at the commencement of the rebellion or had held it before, and who was afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or to vote; and the words 'executive or judicial officer in any State' in said oath mentioned shall be construed to include all civil officers created by law for the administration of any general law of a State, or for the administra tion of justice." Under this clause, we think, are comprised all officers, of whatever character, of either the United States or any of the States, excepting, perhaps, officers of the militia. The District Commander is clothed with large discretionary power in the construction of all doubtful points in these Acts. We cannot say what his decision will be in the case of militia officers, but incline to the belief, that in the case of lawyers, also doubtful in the minds of many. he will rule that they are not disfranchised, This we infer from his letter to Senator TRUM-BULL, wherein he set forth what he deemed a proper interpretation of the clause in question, in Article XIV-the Constitutional Amendment. As Congress did not legislate on the subject with sufficient clearness to exclude doubt, it is fair to suppose that Gen. SICKLES, when he has the power to be his own interpreter, will rule in accordance with the indications laid down in his letter.

Postmasters, magistrates, notaries public and indeed all officers of every grade, we presume, must be considered disfranchised under the last Act. Judge Underwood, last week charged the Grand Jury in Richmond specially to investigate charges of perjury made against In the case of several of the officers mentioned, we know there will still be doubt, and we hope that Gen. Sickles will, at an early date, in a General Order, define, beyond a doubt or a peradventure, who are entitled to register and who are not. He is the only authorized exponent within the limits of North and South Carolina. An order of this kind is much needed, and nothing else can set at rest the anxiety and doubt of the individuals con-
